

Method: Word Webs

In the University of Latvia, Līga Valinka has been using the Word Webs method with her course on Emotional intelligence which is run with 12 students. In this example she used word with students to explore the notion of joy as an emotion – what is it, where does it comes from etc.

Here are the steps Līga takes with the class in applying this method:

- Before lesson students were asked to prepare word web about the term “joy”, using application bubbl.us. they are given examples like this from bubbl.us to have a better idea as to what was expected.
- Students worked individually and brought their homework to lesson.
- They discuss their homework in groups of about 3-4.
- The group leader then presented ideas to class.
